

The True Story of a Remarkable Asian People Partnership

During the 1960s and 1970 in Laos, a long civil war and an external aggression consumed the meager resources of an Asian kingdom, leaving little for its basic needs. About a thousand Filipinos lived and worked there during this period to help as technicians in health-care, training, education, village development projects. They were young, adventurous and eager to apply their skills.

This book describes in fascinating detail the lives they lived and how they fell under the spell of a beguiling country and its people. It tells stories of survival, service and dedication and how enduring friendships are shaped during uncommon times.

Their experience is a case study unique in development aid at that time -- of Asians partnering with Asians. It provides lessons still relevant and useful for today's practitioners of international relations. As the author Bernad said " there is much talk in diplomatic language about friendship among nations. That is friendship in the abstract. What happened in Laos was friendship in the concrete, not of one government with another, but of one people with another."

At various development activities in Laos during the 1960s with young people

"Certainly an interesting and overlooked piece of history. History written by Americans and Europeans has a lot about philanthropic activities of Americans and Europeans but not too much about such activities by Asians. So this but helps correct this omission. "
